

Our styles all fit differently but the sizes will run the same. If you wear our medium size in our TotalWrap, you will wear a medium size in our other styles. The exception to this rule is if you are looking for a fuller coverage fit with our TotalWrap or RidersBeanie.

Example: I wear a Large to X-Large helmet. Because I am looking for my ears to be fully covered, I choose to wear our X-Large RidersBeanie under my helmet. I love the fit and I love the fact that my ears are fully covered. I also love the fact that our fabric really protects the inside of my helmet and keeps it clean.

And let's face it, men, picking styles, sizes and fabrics isn't your favorite thing to do. Did you even realize that head wraps (do rags, skull caps) were available in sizes? And different styles? You thought you were stuck with small fitting do rags that sit on the top of your head, blow off, or cut your circulation off just to get them to stay on. We know what's on your mind. The number of choices may seem a bit overwhelming. Let us help you navigate the options to find your perfect style and fit.

Joan Krenning-Clarkson – Founder of the Brand

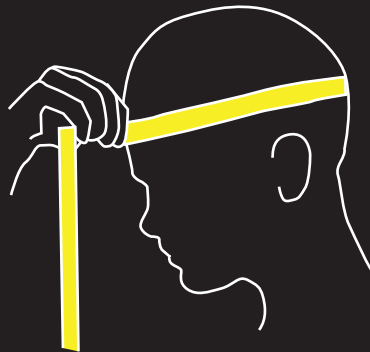

Proper fit is vital - To determine your size is simple.

(You only have to do this once, and we would like you to do it right.)

Measurement 1. (M1)

Measure over the fullest part of your head, from the top of your left ear over the top of your head to the top of your right ear.

Measurement 2. (M2)

Measure completely around your forehead at the fullest part pulling the tape measure snug.

Measurement 3. (M3)

Measure from your hairline back over your head to the occipital ridge (the protrusion where the skull meets the spine).

M1	M2	M3	Helmet	Riders Beanie	Total Wrap	Tailed Wrap	No Tailed Wrap
Up to 11"	Up to 20"	Up to 11"	X-Small	X-Small	Small	Small	Small
11" - 11½"	20" - 21"	11" - 11½"	Small	Small	Medium	Medium	Medium
11 ½" - 12"	21" - 22"	11 ½" - 12"	Medium	Medium	Medium	Medium	Medium
12" - 12 ½"	22" - 23"	12" - 12 ½"	Large	Large	Large	Large	Large
12 ½" and up.	23" and up.	12 ½" and up.	X-Large	X-Large	Large	Large	Large

Riderswraps head gear measures up to your high standards